Launching from the Leri

Launch at the Slipway in the Ynyslas Boatyard (try to keep the bow off the concrete).

Turn downstream (North) towards the Estuary.

Always pass other traffic Port to Port. They may have to give way but don't count on it.

Follow the line of red Buoys for 0.6 miles until you are clear of the Leri. Be careful not to cut short as there are rocks on the Port side.

Then follow the line of buoys through the channel and follow the sweep around the peninsular towards Aberdyfi.

Head for the Jetty at Aberdyfi to keep clear of the rocks at the end of the Ynyslas Peninsular, even on a high tide.

You are free to go out of the Estuary following the green buoys (weather permitting) or go up the Dyfi keeping to the Aberdyfi side.

Returning to the Leri

On your return take a line from the Jetty towards Ynyslas beach (to avoid the rocks).

Once inside the Estuary take a line towards the first Electric post to avoid the main sand bank.

Once the buoys are visible to you follow them back into the Leri.
